Also, more than likely, if this is approved, the NMMB would approve Naloxone - not opioid antagonist.

Hi Josh,

I appreciate the thought you put into this. I agree with the majority of your changes.

The part I disagree with is the NM Medical Board.

This is necessary in order to have this type of facility possess opioid antagonist.

I reviewed the statutes and regulations you provided.

And I agree, you can administer Naloxone.

However, the issue is how to have a CBO Licensed Care Facility have authorization to possess a dangerous drug.

Ideally, we would have a legislative change.

But, as we discussed, we possibly could have the NMMB reduce restrictions.

This is still iffy.

Thanks, Ben
